M. E. L. (Cleveland) writes: "What shall I do for wrinkled hands?" Wear rubber gloves, when the hands are kept in water. Sweet almond oil, cocoa butter or olive oil, rubbed on the wrinkled hands, will feed the starved tissues. This is also good for rough elbows.

HENRY D. (Denver) writes: "What will cure canker sores in the mouth?"
Tincture of myrrh applied to them on a puff of cotton, wrapped around a toothpick, will cure them. Watch the diet, for this is the real cause of the canker sores appearing.

PEGGY (Sait Lake) asks: "Will you please publish a harmless lip and face rough for a very pale girl?"

Melt cocoa butter and a little sweet almond oil over lukewarm water. Remove from the heat and whip briskly. When nearly blended, but still quite soft, add enough powdered carmine to color the desired shade. This is pure and absolutely harmless. It is also good for brittle nafis.
